Podcast and Talk Show Full Production

If you require a full production, including pre and post-production, this page is for you.

We have extensive experience producing talk shows, podcasts, web series, game shows, and more. Please see examples of these here. We can coordinate full productions, from pre-post production, please see the definitions and specs below.

Pre-production

This includes: researching topics and guests, venue sourcing, crew sourcing, making relevant bookings, budget planning, call sheet creating, and more. Everything pre-shoot days which helps shoot days run smoothly.

Production

This includes: filming, production assistance, running, keeping track of call sheets, and more.

Post-production

This includes editing and/ or coordinating editing, quality control, and creating marketing plans.

Producing Prices

Prices for coordinating full productions will vary and will be bespoke to your specific requirements. Please email us at anumediaproductions@gmail.com to enquire.

Post Production Guide

This section guides the customer on what to expect after the shoot and with the content created.

Receiving Your Content

You can receive unedited pictures and videos on the same day of the shoot via airdrop or wetransfer. If you require editing, the timeline for this will be discussed and highlighted in your contract.

Editing

The packages described above do not include editing, however, if required this is available on bespoke pricing.

Editing Revisions

If editing is required, pictures and videos can be redrafted two times from the first edit. Any further edits, whereby new revisions are requested will incur extra costs. Please see your contract for more information on the timeline of this.

Further Information

Please inquire via email anumediaproductions@gmail.com for any further information and to place your booking.
